What is this product?

Type	It is a pension fund for supplementary voluntary pension accumulation.
Term	The fund has been set up for an indefinite period. However, it can be terminated at any time if the effective management of the fund is no longer possible, or if changes in economic and/or political conditions make it necessary to wind it up.
Objectives	The primary objective of this fund's investment strategy is to ensure balanced, long-term growth of the fund. Composition: up to 100 percent in debt securities (bonds), money market instruments, and/or investment fund shares, where the primary investment focus is on debt securities and money market instruments. Investment specialisation in a geographical area or industry is not applicable. The benchmark for the pension fund is applicable from 14/04/2008. From 30/11/2023 a composite benchmark applies, consisting of 40% * Bloomberg Barclays Series-E Euro Govt 1-3 Yr Bond Index (BERPG3 Index) + 35% Bloomberg Pan Euro EM: Europe Total Return Index Unhedged EUR (I04339EU Index) + 10% Bloomberg Pan-European High Yield (Euro) TR Index (I02501EU Index) + 10% Bloomberg EM USD Aggregate: Sovereign Total Return Index Hedged EUR (H12875EU Index) + 5% European Central Bank ESTR OIS Index (OISESTR Index. The weights of the composite benchmark have been chosen to reflect as closely as possible the investment strategy (types, proportions) set out in the fund's rules and the fund's strategic investment allocation. The full history of the benchmarks can be found at www.artea.lt. The Management Company has discretion to choose specific investments. The benchmark is used indirectly, the aim is not to replicate the benchmark index's performance but to outperform it . The fund does not aim at sustainable investments within the meaning of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector; however, it is intended to promote environmental or social performance, or any combination of such performance. For more details, see the pre-contractual sustainability disclosure document. The fund's depositary is SEB Bankas AB. Further information about the fund (rules, annual and half-yearly reports, other information in Lithuanian or English) is available free of charge at the company's customer service centres (an up-to-date list is available at www.artea.lt/r/lt/registracija-vizitui), by calling +370 61 044 447 or e-mailing info@artea.lt, on the website www.artea.lt, and from all distributors of the fund. Details of the latest remuneration policy of the Management Company's employees, including but not limited to a description of how remuneration and other benefits are calculated and the identities of the persons responsible for granting remuneration and other benefits, including the composition of the Remuneration Committee, where such a committee is established, are available on the website www.artea.lt, and will be made available to the investor in hard copy form on request.
For retail investors	The pension fund is recommended for those willing to take on low risk who want to save for a supplementary pension through periodic investments.

The fund is subject to the tax laws of the Republic of Lithuania, which may affect an investor's personal tax situation. The Management Company shall only be liable for the information contained in this document if such information is misleading, inaccurate or inconsistent with the information contained in the relevant parts of the fund's prospectus.

What are the risks and what return can I get?

The aggregate risk indicator shows the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will result in a loss, either because of changes in markets or because we cannot pay you.

We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium risk class. This means that losses related to future performance are likely to be moderate.

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 7 years.

The following are the types of risks that are material to the fund and are underestimated in the calculation of the indicator:

Credit risk. Risk of losses due to the inability of an issuer of securities to meet its financial obligations.
Counterparty risk. The risk that the counterparty will default on its obligations.
Market liquidity risk. Risk of losses due to low market liquidity, which prevents the sale of financial instruments at the desired time and price.
Operational risk. Risk of losses due to system failure, human error or external events, including political and legal risks.

Performance scenarios

The figures show the total cost of the product itself. These figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect the amount you get back.

What you get for this product depends on future market performance. Future market developments are uncertain and cannot be accurately predicted.
The unfavourable, moderate and favourable scenarios shown are examples using the worst, moderate and best product performance over the last 10 years. Markets may develop very differently in the future.
The stress scenario shows what you could recover in extreme market conditions.

What happens if the Management Company is unable to make payments?

The assets of the fund are separated from those of the Management Company. As a result, investors in the fund will not suffer any losses in the event of default or insolvency of the Management Company.

What are the costs?

The person who sells or advises you on this product may also charge other fees. In this case, the person will provide you with information on these costs and how they affect your investment.

Costs over a given period

The tables below show the amounts deducted from your investment to cover various costs. These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the product and the profitability of the product. The amounts shown here are examples based on the amount of the example investment and the different possible investment periods.

We make the following assumptions:

- in the first year, you will get back the amount you invested (0% annual return). For the other holding periods, the profitability of the product is the same as in the moderate scenario;
- the amount invested is EUR 10,000.

	If you exit after 1 years	If you exit after 7 years
Total costs	EUR 119.00	EUR 833.00
Annual cost impact (*)	1.19 per cent	1.19 per cent each year

(*) This shows how costs reduce your return each year over the holding period. For example, it shows that if you exit during the recommended holding period, your average annual return is expected to be 5.19% before tax and 4.00% after tax.

Past performance

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Markets may develop very differently in the future. Performance can help you assess how a fund has been managed in the past and compare it to its benchmark.

This chart shows the Fund's performance as a percentage of its annual losses or gains over the last 10 years compared to its benchmark.

The start date of the fund is 20 December 2004.
The benchmark applies from 14 April 2008.
Historical performance is calculated in euros.
All fees except the one-off distribution fee have been included in the calculation of the Fund's historical performance.
